

BCP Securities, LLC, is a US-based investment bank and broker/dealer specialized in Emerging Markets. With over 30 years experience in this field we have multiple offices throughout the globe and are focused in providing high quality service to our diverse client base.

Our Rio de Janeiro office has three different areas: (i) sales and trading, (ii) investment banking and (iii) research. Currently, we have a position available for an intern (final year of college) OR a recent graduate (less than 1 year).

We are looking for a motivated, outgoing and adaptative person that will have the opportunity to circle through these three areas. The selected candidate will have the chance to work at a global firm with people from several different nationalities while also benefiting from a flexible work environment.

Qualifications:

- Fluent or native English speakers – preferably with international experience and/or formal bilingual education background
- Advanced in Excel/VBA
- Interested in financial markets
- Fast paced and eager to learn
- Well versed to interact with clients

Benefits: Competitive salary + potential increase depending on performance + transportation voucher
